Southeastern Highlands - Looking Ahead

	Monday 30 May	Tuesday 31 May
How windy? (On the Munros)	North or northwesterly mostly less than 15mph.	Direction varied between 15mph or widely less.
Effect of wind on you?	Small	Gusts 25mph in places. Mostly negligible, but near precipitation, expect sudden gusts on both higher and lower slopes.
How wet? (Precipitation and its impact)	Increasingly wet from north afternoon A few patches of rain, or above 800m snow, will drift about lowly from dawn. Will deteriorate from north middle of day as precipitation becomes widespread and heavy with risk thunder. Total rainfall very varied over a few miles.	Areas of rain; some heavy &amp; thundery Overall extensive rainfall as areas of steady rain and heavier thundery showers drift within an area of low pressure. Expect hail and above 1000m snow. There may well be considerable variation in rainfall over a few miles.
Cloud on the hills?	Will come and go, sometimes extensive and shrouding lower slopes Considerable variation, particularly afternoon. Broadly, cloud base will rise from 750m after dawn toward 1100m late morning. But in precipitation expect fog widely on higher slopes and in some areas on lower slopes as well.	Mountains cloud covered most or all day  Overall, fog will cover higher areas persistently, sometimes forming from lowest slopes up, but here and there breaks toward higher summits for a few hours.
Chance of cloud free Munros?	60%	20%
Sunshine? Air clarity (below cloud)	Patches of sunshine will tend to give way from north to rare bursts of sun. The air very clear, but visibility very poor in precipitation.	Pockets of sun here and there. The air very clear, but due to the precipitation, often misty or murky and very poor visibility in snow.
How Cold? (at 900m)	2C, but up to 4C afternoon.	3C
Freezing Level	1050m, although 1250m away from precipitation by afternoon. Frost at first some valleys and upland dips.	1200m.

Planning Outlook*All mountain areas of Britain from Monday, 30 May, 2022

Relatively low temperatures on the mountains until later in the week; particularly on the Scottish highlands where higher tops will frequently be near freezing point. Showers, some heavy and thundery, giving hail and on higher tops snow, will be widespread, particularly in the afternoons, when in some areas they will merge to give a few hours of precipitation with risk thunder. Signs of a few warmer drier days toward or into next weekend.
